Palmer Colonial

Palmer Colonial was originally built by Nara Australia Pty Ltd. In 1992 the course opened as Paradise Springs Golf Course. Designed by Mitsuaki Kobayashi, boasting of beautifully groomed fairways and meticulously manicured greens. Palmers Colonial is widely regarded as being in the best condition on the Gold Coast.

The distinguishing feature of the course is the clubhouse, with its Colonial, Queenslander design. Designed by Alan Griffith Architects, it continues to be the focus of the venue.

A farmland once home to cows, weeds and bush has been transformed into a beautifully groomed course with lush fairways and meticulously manicured greens. The 6,424 metre, par 72, championship resort layout, meanders its way through 39 hectares of towering eucalyptus, picturesque lakes and serene waterways. Flowering native and exotic trees and plants abound, while ornate bridges cross watercourses in which luxuriant lilies jostle for space.

Off the course, the stunning Queenslander-style clubhouse welcomes both golfers and visitors alike. Wide, breeze-catching verandahs surround the building, offering wide views over the golf course and the Gold Coast Hinterland.

Palmer Gold Coast

Carved out of 65 hectares of native woodlands, with fairways lined by towering gum trees, this unique layout is unlike any resort course on the Gold Coast. Possessing maturity well beyond its years, Palmer Gold Coast has rapidly developed a reputation as one of Queensland's best-loved resort courses.

Consistently ranked in the top 30 resort courses in the country, Palmer Gold Coast is a 6078 meter, 18 hole, Par 71 championship golf course (Aust Course Rating 72), designed by the Marsh / Watson team.

The rolling fairways, manicured greens, and towering eucalyptus are strikingly beautiful and blend harmoniously with the surrounding residential development. A natural water course featuring lakes, ponds, creeks and native wildlife completes a rare golf course environment.

The facility features a fleet of electric carts, driving range with sun protection cover and practice facilities, golf shop fully stocked with the latest equipment & merchandise, a club bar & bistro which includes alfresco dining on the terrace, as well as the Fairway and the Lakeview function rooms.

The Lakeview Room is a smaller function room which seats 40 banquet style and 60 cocktail style and features its own outdoor deck on the lake. It is the perfect location for relaxing with your guests, for a conference, wedding, party or post-golf function.

The Sales Department specialises in Corporate Golf Days and group events. Palmer Gold Coast can easily accommodate golfing groups of up to 144 players. From the comfort of the clubhouse to the challenge of the course, Palmer Gold Coast is a unique resort experience.
